   Ref: Chapter II, pg 10a

4. Dennis McCabe has been out of work for several months. His doctor recommended an experimental style of back surgery to correct the herniated discs which resulted from the degenerative bone loss in his lower back. The surgeon has only done this procedure twice before while he was in residency in Boston. Dennis refused to undergo surgery. Dennis is eligible for TANF benefits.

   True

   Disabled parents are required to accept medical or rehabilitative treatment recommended by the physician unless they have reasonable fears about the results of the treatment.

   Ref: Chapter II, pg 13.

5. All TANF disability applicants need to complete a Dispak (Blue and White disability packet).

   False

   TANF disability applicants need to complete a disability packet for MRT only if the disability is expected to last at least 12 months prospectively.

   Ref: Chapter II, pg 10a

6. Benefits based on Presumptive Eligibility are time limited to one year from date of application.

   False

   Although the duration would not be expected to exceed a year from the date of application, presumptive may actually go over a year.

   Ref: Chapter II, pg 10a and OM 2007
7. All pregnant women are eligible for TANF during the last trimester of their pregnancy if they meet the income and asset tests.

False

Only single women can be eligible based solely on pregnancy since their unborn child has no paternity established. Married women must be screened for potential deprivation (absence, disability, UP) in order to be eligible during their last trimester.

Ref: Chapter II, pg 17-18

8. The Medical Review Team no longer does TANF disability determinations.

False

MRT must make eligibility determinations if the disability is expected to last a year or more.

Ref: Chapter II, pg 10a

9. All TANF disabled parents must apply for Social Security benefits.

False

Social Security is listed as potential income on Chapter III, pg 7. Application for Social Security (SSDI) is a requirement for a TANF parent whose disability has lasted or is expected to last for at least one year or to result in death. However, SSDI does not pay benefits for partial or short term disability; SSDI is not potential income for all TANF disabled parents.

10. Bonnie and her daughter only receive TANF. Bonnie’s fiancé Tony, his deprived child from a former marriage, and their mutual child reside in the home without assistance. Tony loses his job and he is eligible for UIB. How does this change Bonnie’s TANF grant?

A. It will have no effect since Tony is eligible for UIB and prefers to stay off TANF with the other children.

B. Bonnie’s TANF grant will increase when the mutual child is added.

C. The mutual child is now “otherwise eligible” and draws his father and half sibling into Bonnie’s case as well. The UIB reduces the benefit.

D. Tony applies for TANF for only his children to keep the UIB from affecting Bonnie’s TANF. They are not married, so he is not responsible for her.

C. The mutual child is now “otherwise eligible” and draws his father and half sibling into Bonnie’s case as well. The UIB reduces the benefit.
